In a move to fully embrace demand from the European market, OUTER REEF YACHTS will present the brand-new OUTER REEF 640 'Classic Azure' on stand number QSP 015.

Famed for incorporating features often seen on larger superyachts and offering no compromise for sea keeping or the ability for transoceanic passages, customers can look forward to a host of unique features previously unseen before on a yacht of this size.

Based on a semi-displacement hull design and built to CE Class A (open ocean) classification, the 640 will have an optimum cruising range of 1000nm at economical 10 knots cruising speed.

Avoiding the inconvenience of regular refueling stops, a circumnavigation from Antibes to Sardinia, for example, or the Amalfi coastline, without interruption, is completely feasible. An even greater range of up to 1400 nm, can be achieved at a displacement speed of up to 8 knots.

The Outer Reef Classic Azure's maximum speed with standard engines - in a full head-height engine room - is 14 knots and an economic cruise of 10 knots, but with the optional engines upgrade, a maximum speed of 20 knots, with a cruising speed of 17 knots can be achieved.

The main deck is equipped with a grand aft-galley covering 35% of available space in the deck house, complimented with domestic-sized kitchen appliances, acres of work surface and preparation areas.

This convenient and attractive galley is the perfect location for producing high class dining for up to ten guests at a time.

With meal and cocktail preparations complete, owners or crew can transform the galley into an open-air café and entertainment-style area, merging the galley with the aft-deck via a full-height patio-style door and fully opening electric glass window. The concept creating a perfect 'alfresco' dining and socializing environment.

Innovation continues with the new Bridge Viewdeck, a feature never seen before on a yacht of this size.

This extra deck area created ahead of the fly-bridge helm station has seating for two. Clear glass surrounds ensure full protection from the wind, whilst offering a 180-degree panoramic view over the foredeck and to the ocean horizon beyond.

With the Bridge Viewdeck reminding of the Mediterranean's famous clear blue sky and clear blue sea views came the inspiration for this new model's name – 'Classic Azure.'

European sales director, Trevor De Faoite commented, "The launch of the new OUTER REEF 640 'Classic Azure' is largely in response to requests from our discerning clientele who desire the perfect yacht for Med cruising and beyond.

"She is extremely stable and capable of cruising for days on end without refueling, while providing room for crew, expansive outdoor spaces to enjoy, and a very spacious galley and aft-deck entertainment zone".

With the highest level of customization in the industry, the OUTER REEF 640 'Classic Azure' can be customized to an owner's individual cruising goals.

Competitively priced from €2.2m, this world debut from OUTER REEF YACHTS ticks many boxes.

More expanded information will become available at the World Debut in Cannes.
